

PIGALLE

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Pigalle Club opened in March 2006 in the heart of the West End on Piccadilly. This 1940's- inspired supper club will encapsulate the glamour and sophistication of that bygone era. The Pigalle Club is the brainchild of live music mogul and Mean Fiddler founder Vince Power.

Patrons of The Pigalle Club are invited to dine whilst enjoying a 26 piece strong band. Vince Power's reputation and influence in the music industry will enable the club to occasionally showcase major stars from across the globe such as Shirley Bassey and Ruby Turner. On other evenings young and up and coming artists will perform in this glamorous venue. As evenings draw on the venue will transform into a late night lounge club with great DJ's and performances that will maintain the same supper club vibe of sophisticated elegance.

Diners at The Pigalle Club's mezzanine restaurant overlooking the stage will be able to choose from a set menu of modern European classics. The Pigalle Club's staff are dressed in 1940's style uniforms, demonstrating the venue's commitment to an authentic supper club atmosphere. Flamboyant interior designer Shaun Clarkson has employed aged wood panelling and twinkling diamond mirrored walls throughout the club. Delicate sconces around tiny all lights and soft table lighting complete this elegant atmosphere.

The Pigalle Club promises to resurrect an era of easy, understated elegance and sophistication in evening entertainment.
