

SIROCCO

Sirocco (formerly Mai Tai) has been transformed into a stunning space with the same opulence and style that you have come to expect from Soho Clubs and Bars.

Sirocco is the Arabic word given to the warm winds that emanate from the Sahara and that flow up into the Mediterranean basin. Sirocco embraces both these influences by way of interior design with Latin and North African themes throughout the venue.

Sirocco, formerly Mai Tai, has been transformed into a stunning space with an opulent style. Positioned between The Gielgud and The Queen's Theatres on Shaftesbury Avenue, Sirocco promises to bring it's own unique style of theatre. As you enter into the bar, your eyes will be drawn immediately to the magnificent Milanese Chandelier designed specifically for Sirocco.

The bar comprises of two levels – The ground floor with large bar and secluded booth seating and an expansive dance floor area. An ornate divided staircase takes you up to the mezzanine that overlooks the dance floor, adding to the theatrical experience.

The venue has been fitted with the very latest sound and light system. Wheel chair access is available. Restroom facilities on each floor and arge coat check facility in basement.

GROUP BOOKINGS AND EXCLUSIVE EVENTS:

The venue is suitable for private and corporate events for up to 350 guests and is often used for film/TV wrap and premiere parties. A secondary entrance at the side of the venue gives the venue a more "nightclub" feel.
